

Sunday
God Does Not Fail

"I will not fail thee, nor forsake thee."
(Joshua 1:5b)

God does not respond with laziness when He sees we need His help. When we trust and obey God, we are trusting and obeying the only Person Who has never failed or forsaken anyone who trusted or obeyed Him. God was not messing up when He gave you the life you have now. He was not a failure when He made you with the mind and looks and abilities you have. If you are relying on God and looking to Him for your help, He will never let you down or leave you alone when you need Him most.

God Does Not Fail

In life we make a lot of friends, but most of us have only a few friends who are very close. Statistics and surveys have shown that the average number of close friends per person is only eight. Can you think of eight close friends you have? Your close friends may change as you grow older, too. Have any of your friends ever been mean to you or let you down? We have probably all had friends who have let us down before. It is also probably true that we ourselves have let our friends down! Even our moms and our dads, who love us very much, are not perfect. Even they have let us down before. What does it mean to fail or to forsake someone? To "fail" means to let someone down, or to respond lazily to someone's need. To "forsake" means to leave someone, to leave them all alone in time of need. Jesus, He never ever lets us down !!

Monday
God Does Not Fail

"I will not fail thee, nor forsake thee."
(Joshua 1:5b)

You know what? In the first chapter of the book of Joshua, God made some promises to Joshua. Joshua was a young man and a pretty new leader. One thing God promised Joshua was that He would not fail him. You can be sure that Joshua really needed the Lord in the many battles he faced as he led the Israelites into the promised land. If God had failed Joshua, some of those battles would not have been won. God kept His promises to Joshua. When Joshua needed God, God did not fail him or forsake him.

Jeremiah 33:2,3

Wednesday
God Does Not Fail

My Response:

» Do I forget sometimes that the God of the Bible is faithful and that He can never let down people?

» Do I ever fail my friends and family members? How can I be more faithful like God, when it comes to keeping my word and being there for those I love?

» How can I show in my life that I believe God is trustworthy and that He deserves to be obeyed?

Thursday
God Does Not Fail

The Bible speaks of a kind of friend that sticks closer than a brother. Well, God sticks even closer than that kind of friend! God told Joshua that when it came time for Him to be there, He would be there. You do not have any friend or family member who would be able to make and keep a promise like that! You probably would admit that you could never make that promise truthfully. But God could make and keep a promise like that. He did make and keep His promise for Joshua, and He will for you if you trust Him and obey Him and look to Him for help.

God never fails those who trust Him and obey Him.
